NO NEWSLETTER NEXT WEEK?

As everyone knows, my newsletter comes out unfailingly every Tuesday and has done so for the last 8 years. This Friday I head off to South America and will be spending the following week touring in Peru and almost certainly out of internet access for nearly all that time. So don't be concerned if next week's newsletter does not appear in your inbox. I always said that I would try to keep my run going as long as I could but eventually the week would come when the run would be broken. Kind regards to all...Tim

WALKER OF THE WEEK

Wow, it's a tough call this week with some great performances to consider:

- 70 year old Victorian walker Andrew Jamieson won his division of the Victorian Masters 10km roadwalk at Middle Park on Saturday with an M70 World Record time of 53:17, bettering both Tom Daintry's 1981 Australian record of 54:17 and Arthur Thomson's 2007 World Record of 53:32. A few weeks ago, Andrew set a new M70 20km World Record with a tiem of 1:52:35. This time it is the 10km that falls to him and I am sure that he has other M70 records in his sights!
- Our Australian representatives at the IAAF World Junior Championships in Poland competed in their 10km events last week and all performed admirably, with results as follows

U20 Women:	13.	Clara Smith	AUS	98	46:59.96
	19.	Tayla-Paige Billington	AUS	97	48:32.33
U20 Men:	12.	Tyler Jones	AUS	98	42:02.96	PB 0:20
	16.	Adam Garganis	AUS	97	42:22.96	PB 0:02

But I have to choose my Walker of the Week and it has to go to Andrew Jamieson – he has been setting new standards within the Masters divisions ever since M50, and he shows no signs of stopping any time soon. Well done Andrew!

WHAT'S COMING UP

Next Saturday sees a couple of activities at Middle Park

- As advertised, an AT&FCA racewalking seminar is scheduled for our clubrooms on Saturday 30th July, starting at 11AM.
 Registrations close today see details at http://atfcaviccoaches.org.au/wpblog/wp-content/uploads/2016/07/Walks-Workshop-July2016-3.pdf. But you can't just turn up on the day you must pre-register as per the pdf above.
- This seminar will be followed by another one of our VRWC Points Days, with races as shown below. Remember that we prefer you to pre-enter via our online entry panel at http://vrwc.org.au/wp1/race-entries-2/. Than all you have to do is pay on the day but we already have your name in the system. Note that club coach Mark Donahoo has his own club coaching session, beginning at 1:20PM he tells me the topic is "training".

Saturday 30 th July 2016, Middle Park

And looking further ahead

- The Victorian Roadwalk Championships will be held on Sunday 7th August remember that you must enter AV championships via their online entry panel see http://athsvic.org.au/event/2016-av-walks-championship/.
- The 2016 Australian Roadwalk Champs will be held at Mt Stromlo in Canberra on Sunday August 21st. Entries are open now and I see that there are already nearly 40 registrations. Note that entries will close on Monday 8th August so don't delay too long. I have created a page for RWV walkers with links to key files and panels, as well as other info see http://www.vrwc.org.au/2016AustRoadwalkChamps.shtml.
- And talking of Australian Champs, the Australian Masters 20km Roadwalk Championships will be held in Adelaide on Sunday 28 August. Entry form, etc, found at http://www.australianmastersathletics.org.au/2016/05/22/ama-20k-walk-championships-2016/. Entries close 20th August. Note that these championships were originally gazetted for 20th August and are now a week further back.

THE IAAF WORLD JUNIOR CHAMPIONSHIPS

My race reports start with the 16th IAAF World Junior T&F Championships in Bydgoszcz, Poland which finished on last Sunday.

U20 Women 10,000m Walk, Tuesday 19 July, 6PM

My report is from the IAAF's Jon Mulkeen (http://www.iaaf.org/news/report/world-u20-bydgoszcz-2016-women-10000m-race-wa1).

China's Ma Zhenxia is just 17 years old, but already she owns four major global titles. Winner of the Youth Olympic title in 2014, the world U18 title in 2015 and the junior title at the IAAF World Race Walking Team Championships Rome 2016, Ma added another gold medal to her collection by winning the women's 10,000m race walk at the IAAF World U20 Championships Bydgoszcz 2016.

Ma was always present in the lead pack. She took the field through the first 1000m in 4:39.27 before settling into a pack which also included Finland's Taika Nummi, Ethiopia's Yehualeye Beletew, Italy's Noemi Stella and Japan's Yukiho Mizoguchi. Less than two seconds separated the top 12 women at 3000m, reached in 13:44.01, and the group increased in numbers as the pace dropped in the fourth kilometre. Nummi, Belatew, Stella and Ma continued to share the lead for a few more laps, gradually increasing the pace. By 7000m, with Beletew leading the group through that checkpoint in 32:07.16, just six women were left in the lead pack with Mexico's Valerie Ortuno and China's Jiang Shanshan joining Beletew, Nummi, Ma and Stella.

Stella, Ma and Beletew then broke away and were three seconds ahead of the rest of the field at 8000m. It was clear that, barring a disaster, the medals would go to those three women. With three laps to go, Ma and Stella began to forge ahead. Knowing that she already had two red cards to her name, Beletew played it safe and didn't attempt to challenge the leaders. Ma moved into the lead with two laps to go but Stella was still right behind. Ma still had another gear to move into for the last lap and she stretched away to win by six seconds in a world-U20-leading 45:18.45, having covered the final 1000m in 4:15. She became the first Chinese winner of this title since Liu Hong in 2006.

Stella crossed the line in a season's best of 45:23.85, while Beletew took bronze with an African U20 record of 45:33.69. Ortuno was further behind in fourth, but also set a continental U20 record, crossing the line in 45:44.33. Just twelve months after compatriot Ayalnesh Dejene earned bronze at the IAAF World Youth Championships Cali 2015, Beletew doubled Ethiopia's tally of global race walking medals.

The final positions do not tell the entire story for our two Australian reps - Clara Smith 13th in 46:59.96 and Tayla-Paige Billington 19th in 48:32.33. Tayla was in the lead group (in 4th place) at the 4000m mark when she was clipped from behind, lost her shoe and tripped over the inner plinth and fell, twisting her ankle. To her credit, she got back up, put her shoe back on and finished but was then not even able to walk and had to be stretchered off the track. A huge effort from her and a great disappointment as she looked set to finish a lot higher than her final placing of 19th. And a special mention to USA's Anali Cisneros who set a new American record with her time of 49:31.88.

U20 Men 10,000m Walk, Saturday 23 July 9:30AM

Again, my report is from the IAAF's Jon Mulkeen (http://www.iaaf.org/news/report/world-u20-bydgoszcz-2016-men-10000m-race-walk1).

There's only so much waiting anyone can take. For 10,000m race walk winner Callum Wilkinson, his limit is about 15 minutes. That's roughly how long the Brit waited in the middle of the lead pack before sweeping to the front and cranking up the pace. The opening tempo was slow, with Turkey's Salih Korkmaz taking the field through 1000m in 4:17.16 and 2000m in 8:40.38. Half a lap later, Germany's Leo Kopp decided to take up the pace and he led through 3000m in 12:54.57. The pace had increased, but it still wasn't fast enough for Wilkinson's liking. Within the space of one lap, Wilkinson had taken pole position and stretched out the lead pack. Korkmaz was still near the front, so too was Noel Ali Chama of Mexico. But from 4000m onwards, reached in 17:02.91, Wilkinson did not relinquish his lead.

After another 4:08 kilometre to reach half way in 21:11.75, Wilkinson moved up another gear and began to churn out subfour-minute splits for the remaining 1000m sections. A 3:58.47 kilometre saw the lead pack reduce to nine. Manuel Bermudez, the silver medallist in the junior race at the IAAF World Race Walking Team Championships Rome 2016, began to drift behind the leaders as the Spaniard struggled with a minor ankle injury. At 7000m, Ecuador's Jonathan Amores and Ethiopia's Yohanis Algaw were still doggedly sticking to Wilkinson, but the Brit was showing no signs of stress. Wilkinson covered the penultimate 1000m section in 3:53.56 and just four men were left in contention.

As the pack went through the bell, Algaw was the first to drop off, leaving just Wilkinson, Amores and Korkmaz in the hunt for medals. But those positions remained the same throughout the last lap as Wilkinson stretched away to win in a national U20 record of 40:41.62, crossing the line in utter disbelief. Not only was it the fastest time in the world this year by an U20 athlete, it also takes Wilkinson to second on the senior British all-time list for the distance. "Every lap of the track made me more and more confident," said Wilkinson after covering the second half in 19:29.87 and the final kilometre in 3:44.51. "I can't believe I did it. I knew I could, but I can't believe it. I'm just in shock. It's everything I wanted this year. This is it." His gold medal is Britain's first race walking title in a major international age-group competition. The last Briton to win a global race walking title was 1964 Olympic 20km champion Ken Matthews.

Amores finished second in a PB of 40:43.33, taking Ecuador's first world U20 medal in this discipline since Jefferson Perez won gold in 1992. Korkmaz crossed the line in 40:45.53, while Algaw was fourth in an African U20 record of 40:55.96.

The Australian reps both performed admirably, with Tyler Jones 12th in a PB 42:02.96 and Adam Garganis 16th in a PB 42:22.96. You can't do any better than a PB in a major competition. Great walking boys1

VRWC ROADWALKS, MIDDLE PARK, SATURDAY 23 JULY

The VRWC winter season continued last Saturday at Middle Park with the Victorian Masters 10km Championships and the annual RWA Postal Challenge races. Conditions were poor – cold and wet - but it didn't stop a good turnout of 50 walkers and some great times in the various distances.

The VMA 10km saw Andrew Jamieson the standout with an M70 world best time of 53:17. Pramesh Prasad was also in great form with a PB of 51:26. And special mentions to those walkers who scored greater than 85% on the age graded tables – a very tough ask – Pam Tindal, Heather Carr, Sylvia Machin and Andrew.

LES 4 HEURES DE LA MAILLERAYE SUR SEINE, FRANCE, SATURDAY 3 JULY

Last Saturday saw Emmanuel Tardi in La Mailleraye, a small French village located on the banks of the Seine about 150km in the west of Paris, where the local walking team had organised a racewalking event over the rarely contested distance of 4 hours, along with a shorter 10km event for those a bit daunted by the concept of walking for 4 hours. Both races started at 2PM and were held over a 1.685km loop with a long hill to climb (500m) and a corresponding hard downhill. It was a great success with 90 starters.

There were no surprises in the 4 Hour event with 3 times French 100km champion Eddy Roze leading the 4 Hour race from beginning to the end, finishing with 37.070km (the final distance is not very impressive due to very hot weather). In the women's 4 Hour walk, 4 women finished on the same lap, with victory going to Christine Lefebvre wth 30.330km. In the 10km walk, ex international Anne Gaelle Retout (1h36 in 2010) won easily with a time of 55:18.

2016 USATF NATIONAL MASTERS OUTDOOR T&F CHAMPIONSHIPS, GRAND RAPIDS, MI, 14-17 JULY

And now to Grand Valley State University in Missouri for the USATF Masters T&F Championships, where 5000m track walk and 10km road walks were on offer. I am sure our Australian masters walkers will be checking these out, given the World Masters Championships in Perth this coming October.

100TH FOUR DAYS MARCHES NIJMEGEN, NIJMEGEN, NETHERLANDS, 19-22 JULY

The International Four Day Marches Nijmegen is the largest multiple day marching event in the world. It is organised every year in Nijmegen, Netherlands, in mid-July as a means of promoting sport and exercise. Participants walk 30, 40 or 50 kilometers daily depending on their age and gender, and, on completion, receive a royally approved medal (Vierdaagsekruis). The participants are mostly civilians, but there are also a few thousand military participants.

The standard categories include 30 km x 4 days 40 km x 4 days 50 km x 4 days

55 km x 4 days - reinstated specially for the 100th edition

as well as a Military category of 40 km x 4 days, with all marchers wearing uniform and weighted pack.

This year's event was a special one - the 100th International Four Days Marches Nijmegen - and it saw a huge field, with 42,557 participants finishing the full 4days and receiving their well-deserved medal. You can see more at http://www.4daagse.nl/en/. Well done to everyone. This race, like the Parish Walk, is definitely on my wish list. I had better get to it before I get too old!

- Now this I like! Britain's first ever fast pedestrian lane has opened in Liverpool city centre following research that claims 47% of the nation finds slow walking the most annoying aspect of high-street shopping. Opening on the city's St John Street, the fast lanes will allow users to speed through the crowds while perusing the three-storey Liverpool One shopping centre. See http://www.independent.co.uk/news/uk/home-news/liverpool-becomes-the-first-city-to-open-fast-walking-lanes-a6719766.html.

Wednesday 20 July

- A British court has ordered Russian marathon runner Liliya Shobukhova to repay prize and appearance money from the London race after being banned for doping. The High Court judgment mandates Shobukhova to repay 377,961.62 pounds ($498,000) plus costs relating to her 2010 London Marathon victory and second-place finish the following year in the British capital. "The next step is to get the judgment enforced in Russia," London Marathon chief executive Nick Bitel said. "It will be a long and difficult process but we will pursue it, as we are determined that cheats should not benefit. See http://www.nzherald.co.nz/athletics/news/article.cfm?c_id=19&objectid=11677691&ref=rss.
- The Court of Arbitration for Sport says it has dismissed a request by Alex Schwazer to lift his provisional ban from competition over a new doping allegation. And so it should! See http://www.nzherald.co.nz/athletics/news/article.cfm?cid=19&objectid=11677706&ref=rss.
- After a four-hour meeting, the IOC's executive board decided that it "will not organise or give patronage to any sports event or meeting in Russia," while all officials from the Russian Ministry of Sport have been banned from attending the Olympics this summer along with anyone else implicated in the McLaren report, which detailed a state-sponsored doping programme working out of the Sochi laboratory in the lead up to the 2014 Winter Olympics. See http://www.bbc.com/sport/olympics/russia-doping-ioc-exploring-legal-options-blanket-ban-rio-2016-olympics-a7144716.html and http://www.bbc.com/sport/olympics/36834090. This of course now means that the 2018 World Racewalking Teams Championships will NOT be in Cheboksary. Expect a call for new bidders eventually.
- WADA announced on Wednesday the lifting of the provisional suspension of accreditation of the Brazilian Doping Control Laboratory in Rio de Janeiro. This reinstatement allows the Rio Laboratory to resume anti-doping analysis on urine and blood samples with immediate effect. We never quite knew why they were suspended in the first place. Luckily they are now back online in time for the Games. See https://www.wada-ama.org/en/media/news/2016-07/wada-reinstates-rio-laboratory-accreditation-in-time-for-the-rio-games.

Thursday 21 July

- Russia's athletes will miss the Rio 2016 Olympics after the Court of Arbitration for Sport (CAS) threw out an appeal against the IAAF ban. The Russian Olympic Committee and 68 athletes were bidding for reinstatement ahead of the Games but the CAS has sided with the IAAF. The verdict could pave the way for the International Olympic Committee to introduce a blanket ban on the Russian team for Rio 2016. See http://www.insidethegames.biz/articles/1039816/russian-athletes-to-miss-rio-2016-after-court-of-arbitration-for-sport-uphold-iaaf-ban.
- See the CAS statement at http://www.tas-cas.org/fileadmin/user_upload/Media_Release_4684_210716.pdf.

The ramifications of this decision are many and varied, with the following happening in quick succession.

WADA is satisfied with the decisions delivered today by the Court of Arbitration for Sport (CAS) concerning the arbitrations between the Russian Olympic Committee (ROC), a number of Russian athletes (the Claimant Athletes) and the International Association of Athletics Federations (IAAF). See https://www.wada-ama.org/en/media/news/2016-07/wada-satisfied-by-cas-decisions-concerning-the-russian-olympic-committee-and-68.

- Russia could be banned from the Rio Paralympics on Friday with the event's organisers confident that any sanction they impose will stand up to legal challenge. A ban on Russia's Paralympic Team could be announced very soon, with the International Paralympic Committee (IPC) primed to make an announcement after it meets on Friday afternoon to decide an appropriate sanction. Sir Philip Craven, IPC president, has said he was "shocked, appalled and deeply saddened" by a report into the state-sponsored mass Russian doping cover-up. That report found 35 "disappearing positive" Russian drug tests across Paralympic sport between 2012 and 2015, as well as confirming that the country's doping cover-up regime was in place during the 2014 Winter Paralympics in Sochi, where Russia won three times as many medals as any other country. See http://www.telegraph.co.uk/olympics/2016/07/20/russias-paralympics-team-faces-rio-2016-ban-over-doping-scandal/.
- The IOC has confirmed that it will reconvene on Sunday and make a decision early next week over whether to impose a blanket ban on the entire Russian team for the Rio Olympics following the exposure of a shocking government-led doping regime in the country.
- New Zealand's Olympic team boss Rob Waddell today joined the chorus of condemnation of Russia's state-run doping programme which has blighted the leadup to the Rio Games. "The general view and I'm very much aligned to that is we support the strongest (action) possible. It's really wrong." See http://www.nzherald.co.nz/sport/news/article.cfm?c_id=4&objectid=11678423.
- The Executive Committee of FISA, the World Rowing Federation, convened by telephone conference call after the release of the McLaren Report, to consider whether to ban Russia's rowers from Rio. See http://aroundtherings.com/site/A 56610/Title Media-Release-FISA-Update-on-WADAs-McLaren-Report/292/Articles.
- FISA are to lead a meeting of International Federations on Friday, after the explosive findings of the McLaren Report. Governing bodies present will "exchange information and understanding of the McLaren report" as calls grow for Russia to be completely banned from the Rio 2016 Olympics. See http://www.insidethegames.biz/articles/1039798/international-federations-to-hold-key-meeting-to-discuss-mclaren-report-findings.
- A letter from 14 National Anti-Doping Agencies (NADOs) has been sent to the IOC to urge them to suspend the Russian Olympic Committee and provisionally deny all Russian athletes entry to the Rio 2016 Olympic Games. The NADOs of Austria, Canada, Denmark, Egypt, Finland, Germany, Japan, The Netherlands, New Zealand, Norway, Spain, Sweden, Switzerland and the United States have all signed the letter to IOC President Thomas Bach. See http://www.insidethegames.biz/articles/1039814/fourteen-national-anti-doping-agencies-urge-blanket-ban-on-russia-in-letter-to-ioc.

Friday 22 July

• The IOC has confirmed that 30 athletes who competed at Beijing 2008 and 15 from London 2012 have failed drug tests in the second allocation of retests, including 23 medallists from the 2008 Olympic Games. The IOC confirmed the news on Friday morning after receiving the results, which comes two months after it was announced that 30 positive tests from Beijing and 23 from London had been discovered during a sample of retests. The 30 positive tests from the 2008 Olympics come from four different sports and eight different countries, while the 15 failed tests from the Summer Games four years ago come from two different sports and nine different nations. See http://www.independent.co.uk/sport/olympics/ioc-drugtests-doping-confirm-23-medallists-45-failed-beijing-2008-london-2012-a7150386.html.

Monday 24 July

- The silver medal won at the Junior World Championships male shotput by the Romanian Andrei Toader (22.30m, new national record) will now be reassigned, which the Romanian thrower testing positive for the presence of testosterone in a drugs test done at the Romanian T&F Champs in June. See http://www.trackarena.com/32772/the-bydgoszcz-shot-put-silver-medal-andrei-toader-tested-positive-to-testosterone.
- The troubled Rio de Janeiro Olympic Games have arrived at their first major crisis, less than two weeks before the opening ceremony. The Australian Olympic Committee confirmed on Sunday evening that the athletes' village has been deemed uninhabitable in the short term due to significant plumbing and electrical concerns. It is unclear if and when competitors will be able to move in, with the International Olympic Committee is set to undertake "stress tests" to deal with serious issues with plumbing and fire safety. See http://www.smh.com.au/sport/olympics/rio-2016/rio-olympics-2016-athletes-village-unliveable-20160724-gqcqxy.html.

Ok, here is where it all starts to get messy this week.

• The IOC has resisted calls for a blanket ban on Russians competing in next month's Games due to the country's doping record, leaving decisions on individual athletes' participation with their sports federations. This has led to immediate criticism on various fronts. "The IOC Executive Committee has failed to confront forcefully the findings of evidence of state-sponsored doping in Russia corrupting the Russian sport system," Joseph de Pencier, CEO of iNADO, the 59-member global Institute of National Anti-Doping Organisations, said in a statement. "It has ignored the calls of clean athletes, a multitude of athlete organisations, and of leading National Anti-Doping Organisations, to do the right thing by excluding Russia from the Rio Olympic Games. It is a sad day for clean sport."

• De Pencier and top U.S. anti-doping official Travis Tygart were also critical of the IOC for not allowing Russian whistleblower Yulia Stepanova to compete in Rio. "To refuse her entry into the Games is incomprehensible and will undoubtedly deter whistleblowers in the future from coming forward," Tygart said in a statement. See http://www.sbs.com.au/news/article/2016/07/25/ioc-russia-decision-blow-clean-athletes-anti-doping-officials. How's this for an unabiguous statement

"Many, including clean athletes and whistleblowers, have demonstrated courage and strength in confronting a culture of state-supported doping and corruption within Russia. Disappointingly, however, in response to the most important moment for clean athletes and the integrity of the Olympic Games, the IOC has refused to take decisive leadership. The decision regarding Russian participation and the confusing mess left in its wake is a significant blow to the rights of clean athletes."

"The IOC has stated before that they believe anti-doping should be wholly independent, and that is in part why it is so frustrating that in this incredibly important moment, they would pass the baton to sports federations who may lack the adequate expertise or collective will to appropriately address the situation within the short window prior to the Games. The conflict of interest is glaring."

"In regard to Yuliya Stepanova, the decision to refuse her entry in to the Games is incomprehensible and will undoubtedly deter whistleblowers in the future from coming forward."

- Travis T. Tygart, CEO, USADA
- Australian sports commentator and former dual Olympic long jumper Dave Culbert is also scathing in his analysis. Listen to his radio interview at https://audioboom.com/boos/4855778-david-culbert-on-the-ioc-s-decision-not-to-fully-ban-russia.
- This approach is very different to that being taken by the International Paralympic Committee (IPC) which has opened proceedings to suspend the National Paralympic Committee of Russia ahead of Rio 2016, in a move strongly supported by the Australian Paralympic Committee (APC). APC Chief Executive Lynne Anderson applauded the stance taken by the IPC, and said the APC would fully support any move to suspend NPC Russia from Rio based on the findings of the McLaren Report. See https://www.paralympic.org.au/apc-backs-move-to-suspend-russia-from-rio-2016-paralympic-games/.
- But to be fair to the IOC, they have not just given a blanket ok to Russia. Their press release forbids the Russian Olympic Committee from entering any athlete for the Olympic Games Rio 2016 who has ever been sanctioned for doping, even if he or she has served the sanction. Further, it will only accept those Russian competitors who have adequate reliable international doping tests to confirm that they are clean. Drugs tests done in Russia are not eligible for consideration. See https://www.olympic.org/news/decision-of-the-ioc-executive-board-concerning-the-participation-of-russian-athletes-in-the-olympic-games-rio-2016. Alas, this has done little to win the argument as the criticisms keep coming thick and fast.
- USA coach Steve Magness is strident in his condemnation of what he sees as the IOC capitulation to Russia and the trashing of whistleblower Yuliya Stepanova. "With one swoop, the IOC sent a message with that one simple ruling that what matters is not clean sport or fair competition, what matters is the status quo; The financial windfall for the IOC, the relationships with corrupt governing bodies, the keeping of an 'important country' in the folds for the money making extravaganza that has become the Olympic games. They see the Stepanova's not as brave warriors for justice, but a pest who brought forth the seedy underbelly that the system truly is. The Stepanova's are a nuisance to the IOC." They are a problem. - Bernard Amsalem, president of the French Athletics Federation and Vice President of the National Olympic and Sports Committee (CNOSF) has also come out, strongly criticized the decision of the IOC not to suspend Russia. See http://rmcsport.bfmtv.com/plus-de-sports/jo-2016-amsalem-la-decision-du-cio-est-dramatique-pour-le-sport-1018771.html.
- For her part, Stepanova has asked the International Olympic Committee to review its decision to ban her from competing at the Rio Games.Both WADA and The IAAF say she should be there it is only the IOC who say no. See http://www.dudleynews.co.uk/sport/national/14641296.Doping_whistleblower_Yuliya_Stepanova_asks_IOC_to_review_her_Rio_ban/?ref=twtrec.
- Olympic gold medallist Jared Tallent says he has lost faith in the Olympic movement following the IOC's decision not to apply a blanket ban on Russian athletes in Rio. Speaking from his training base in St Moritz, Switzerland, on Monday, Tallent said he was not looking forward to this year's Games like Beijing or London because he feels the IOC has failed clean athletes in every sport. See <a href="http://www.heraldsun.com.au/sport/olympics-2016/australian-gold-medalwinning-walker-jared-tallent-tees-off-on-ioc-for-failure-to-ban-russia-from-olympic-games/news-story/f99e0a309716c4e849356ebbc2de8fe8.
- Of course, the IOC have banned all Russians who have ever failed a drugs test but what about Justin Gatlin, twice convicted of drugs cheating and now co-favourite to win gold in the sprints at Rio. It all reads very inconsistently. The IOC has indeed made a mess of it all.

Tuesday 25 July

And hot off the presses today, a damning analysis of WADA processes. "What does appear clear is that WADA, the body responsible for enforcing antidoping rules and regulations, engaged in unambiguously questionable practices regarding the presentation of scientific evidence. The aggressive behavior of WADA toward scientists raising questions about WADA's practices raises questions about the ability of the organization to implement a robust and fair scientific approach to antidoping. CAS arbitrators may trust WADA, but based on how WADA treated evidence and criticism in the Tysse case, is it not clear that anyone else should." A must read.
