WALKING FIGHTS FOR ITS SURVIVAL AGAIN

We have had 2 weeks in which to respond to the latest IAAF Race Walking Committee proposals and I hope that everyone did so, whether it be in support of or against the changes. We now wait to see that happens going forward. As mentioned previously, the IAAF RWC meet next weekend to review the feedback and ponder their recommendations.

A lot of good points have been made in the many responses from individuals, racewalking clubs and organizations and member federations.

I was interviewed about these changes last week by Tim Crosbie of Athletics Victoria, for his weekly "Down the Track' radio podcast. Just point your browser to https://itunes.apple.com/au/podcast/down-the-track/id1442600915?mt=2. You will see two podcasts dated 24/01/2019. Choose the top one which is 37 mins in length. Fast forward about half way and you will find the start of my full interview. It is some 20 minutes in duration.

As a final comment, I would like to point readers to the response of Paul DeMeester, sent just yesterday to Mr Saladie. As usual, Paul nails the key issues with clarity and force.

WALKER OF THE WEEK

It was a hard choice for my Walker of the Week this time around with a number of superb performances from which to choose

- 37 year old Claire Tallent won the USATF Women's 50km Roadwalk Championship in Santee, California, with a time of 4:12:44. This is Claire's third 50km in 8 months. She started with her bronze medal in the IAAF World Race Walking Team Championships in China in May 2018 (4:09:33), a new Australian, Oceania and Commonwealth record. In December, she won the inaugural Australian women's 50km title at Fawkner Park (4:28:52) for another piece of history. Then on Saturday, she won again, this time in Santee, with a new American All-Comers record.
- 18 year old Katie Hayward recorded a 39 sec PB of 44:29.27 in the Canberra Track Classic 10,000m walk in Monday, breaking the Australian U20 10,000m walk record that had been held by Jess Rothwell since 2008.
- 20 year old Jemima Montag also walked in the Canberra Track Classic 10,000m walk in Monday, finishing with a sensational 1 min 37 sec PB of 43:59.46.
- 27 year old Rhydian Cowley finished 3rd overall in the Canberra Track Classic 10,000m walk in Monday with a 5 sec PB time of 40:07.1. Given that he set his PB way back in 2012, it was an impressive performance and shows that he has unfinished business in our sport.
- 17 year old Corey Dickson continued on with his recent excellent form, finishing the Canberra Track Classic 10,000m walk in Monday with a 30 sec PB time of 46:28.44. One of a very talented group of junior walkers and one of the current big improvers.

Wow..tough tough! My final choce for Walker of the Week goes to Katie Hayward, given her Australian record, but all 5 walkers deserve accolades for their efforts.

Jemima, Katie and Rhydian all rise in my unofficial all time lists with these performances – Jemima now 6th, Katie now 10th and Rhydian now 10th. Check out my rankings at http://www.vrwc.org.au/arankings.shtml. The amended top twenties are shown below.

WHAT'S COMING UP

• AV Shield Round 11 is scheduled next Saturday, with all 5 venues in action. Remember that entries close with AV at midday Wednesday. Note that the metro regions are contesting alternate program 1 and program 2 programs at Werribee and Knox, with NO WALKS scheduled. This is the only one of the 12 rounds with no Melbourne based walks. But hey, that is great as it gives all us Melbourne based walkers a chance to support one of the country regions and have our weekly walk with them. I am planning on going to either Ballarat or Geelong, and I hope to see lots of other Melbourne walkers there. Here's how it all looks:

• Athletics Australia have advised that they will send a Regional Australia Athletics Team (for regional athletes) to compete at the 2019 Oceania Championships in Townsville in June. You can read more about it at http://www.athleticsnorthqld.org.au/2019rat. The meet will include Open and U20 10km roadwalks and U18 5km roadwalks for men and women and the qualifying standards are quite generous. It's a great opportunity for our non-metropolitan based walkers. You can register your interest now via the link on the above championships page.

10,000M WALK, AIS ATHLETICS TRACK, CANBERRA, MONDAY 28 JANUARY

A 10,000m track walk was held as part of the annual Canberra Track Classic meet on Monday 28th January. The second of two 10,000m races held as part of the AIS based Supernova Study Camp, the first race (in early January) is used to set baseline counts and the second race is used to test how the walkers have adjusted to their diets, varied as part of the camp study.

Once again, it was Swedish walker Perseus Karlstrom (39:20.81) and Colombian walker Sandra Lorenas (43:41.51) who won the races, each slightly slower than in their first races but still definitive wins. Evan Dunfee was one of the big improvers, finishing second with 39:56.54 (with a big negative split), ahead of visiting Victorian walker Rhydian Cowley who recorded a 5 sec PB (he set his PB way back in 2012) to take third with 40:07.01. With the first 7 men all under 41 minutes, it was a high quality race.

Rhydian was one of a number of Australians who recorded PBs, a good sign of things to come. Other Australians in PB mode were 20 year old Jemima Montag (43:59.46), 18 year old Katie Hayward (44:29.27), 17 year old Corey Dickson (46:28.44) and 17 year old Tristan Camilleri (46:35.07). Further, Katie Hayward's time of 44:29.29 broke Jess Rothwell's Australian U20 10,000m record of 44:44.22, set in the World Junior Championships in Bydgoszcz, Poland, on 9th July 2008. Jess was on hand to see her record broken, as she now works as a nutritionist and is helping with the Supernova Study.

SAMA TRACK WALKS, SA ATHLETICS STADIUM, MILE END, ADELAIDE, WEDNESDAY 23 JANUARY

Colin Hainsworth advises that the SA Masters track meet in Adelaide last Wednesday was candelled due to the 40C heat. It was also cancelled last week for the same reason. And the forecast for Thursday indicated even worse conditions, with 45C predicted. Ouch! Summer in Australia!

WA 10,000M TRACK WALK CHAMPIONSHIPS, WA ATHLETICS STADIUM, PERTH, WEDNESDAY 23 JANUARY

Thanks to Terry Jones for the results of the Western Australian 10,000m Track Walk Championships. He commented: After having max temps into the 40s over the weekend, we had a cold wet and windy evening for this event. What a change! And nothing like a normal Perth summer evening.

USATF 50KM RACE WALKING CHAMPIONSHIPS, SANTEE, CALIFORNIA, SATURDAY 26TH JANUARY

My report on last Saturday's USA 50km Championship meet in Santee, California, comes from Paul DeMeester who was roadside. Over to Paul

SANTEE 50K: A RACE OF ATTRITION; CONTINUED EXCELLENCE BY CLAIRE TALLENT; AND A NEW U.S. 50K STAR IS BORN

By Paul F. DeMeester in Santee, California, January 26, 2019

Santee Has Become the U.S. 50K Capital

Santee is a small California town about 10 miles east of San Diego and a bit north of the U.S.-Mexico border. The area is known for its great weather and draws race walkers from colder parts of the United States who move here for better training opportunities. Two of the U.S. Olympic 50K walkers who were at the Games between 2000 and 2016 hailed from the San Diego area (Philip Dunn and John Nunn), both as transplants from cooler climes (respectively Oregon and Colorado). New Yorker Tim Seaman, a two-time 20K Olympian, moved his coaching operation here. The U.S. Qualifying Trials for major competitions have followed suit. They are usually held in winter time to give the selectees plenty of recovery time.

Nearby Tustin and Chula Vista have also been the venues for the U.S. National 50K Championships. Santee was first visited in 2009. It next played host to the U.S. Olympic Trials in 2012. Since 2014, the Santee U.S. National Championships or U.S. Olympic Trials races have become an annual Santee fixture. Race organizer Tracy Sundlun has obtained great cooperation from the local authorities, attracted sponsorship and encouraged international walkers to make the trip. His efforts have not disappointed, as can be seen by the participant and finisher numbers for the Santee 50K races:

Year	Total No. of Participants	Men (Finishers)	Women (Finishers)
2009	6	4(3)	2(1)
2012 (Olympic Trials	12 only; Women's National Champ	11(10) ionships held elsewhere)	1(1)
2014 2015 2016	24 15 20	18(13) 11(11) 15(12)	6( 6) 4( 4) 5( 4)
2017 2018 2019	30 21 37	17(12) 11(9) 19(10)	13 (9) 10( 8) 18(12)

The last three editions have been in a different location from the ones held between 2009 and 2016. The new course is just a mile down the road from the old one. The 1250 meter circuit is in the shape of a dog leg, with two gentle 90-degree turns and two wide 180s. The surface is mostly asphalt with some concrete. Gentle inclines mark the areas before the 180-degree turns. There is no shade, however, and the lack thereof played a huge part in this year's race.

A Race of Attrition in the Heat

Race day ended up being a lot hotter than predicted with the mercury rising to 78 degrees Fahrenheit (25.6 degrees Celsius) in the second part of the race. This unexpected development had major consequences. Five Central and South American walkers bit the dust in the heat. U.S. favorites Nick Christie and Katie Burnett (4th at the inaugural 2017 London World Championships), who both live locally, did not see the finish. Women's 50K pioneer Erin Taylor-Talcott was not worried about the weather. Instead, she had to worry about her body temperature, having been bedridden with strep throat a week before the race. She did not make it to the end.

Even for those who completed the race, heat was a factor. The men's side was a spirited competition in the first half, with five walkers (David Velasquez, Andreas Gustafsson, Eder Sanchez, Javier Mena Jara and Nick Christie) in contention for the win. At the half-way mark, the Doha men's entry standard (3:59:00) looked like it was within their reach:

<ol> <li>Velasquez</li> </ol>	1:58:38
2. Christie	1:59:08
<ol><li>Gustafsson</li></ol>	1:59:52
<ol><li>Sanchez</li></ol>	2:00:23
5. Jara	2:00:24

Only two of those five would post second half results but in a much slower fashion than their first halves:

<ol> <li>Velasquez</li> </ol>	2:09:56
2. Gustafsson	2:16:05

The reason: the heat. Only one person did not seem to be too bothered by it all: Claire Tallent, Australia's 50K Super Star.

If It's Tuesday, This Must Be Belgium

Okay. It was Saturday, not Tuesday. And it was Santee, not Belgium. The point of the classic 1969 movie was the whirlwind nature of American touring in Europe. I'm sure Claire Tallent could relate. She arrived from Australia on Friday, the day before the race. She won her race the following morning before the noon hour struck. Her flight home was four-and-a-half hours later. Never mind her competitors, she also beat jet lag.

Claire has been amazing in the 50K. Her first outing at the distance was Taicang, the May 5, 2018 IAAF World Team Championships race. She earned the bronze medal with an Area and Australian record of 4:09:33. Next, she took a walk in the park, Fawkner Park that is. Without serious competition, she cruised to a 4:28:52, still below the Doha entry standard. Less than two months later, she was at it again in Santee. She faced world-class competition: Paola Perez of Ecuador, who had finished just one spot behind Claire at Taicang in 4:12:56. Perez and Tallent walked together for about 8K. After seven laps, the Australian champion walked ahead of the Ecuadorian by some four seconds. One lap later, the gap had grown to 14 seconds; after 15K to 46 seconds. Tallent's lap leading up to the 20K mark was done in a 5:02 kilometer pace. She reached the half-way point in 2:03:52 and would give up much less time in the tougher, hotter, windier second race half compared to the men. She covered the back half in 2:08:54, which was not only relatively faster than the men but also faster in absolute terms.

Male race leader David Velasquez lapped Claire after 24 of the 40 laps. But this was not to last. The men's leader could not gain any additional real estate on the women's leader. After Velasquez's 30th lap, Tallent passed through her 29th lap 9 seconds in arrears, in company of Gustafsson, who also had a one-lap advantage over her. A lap further up the road, Tallent was back in the company of Velasquez. At the 40K mark, she was trailing him by 11 seconds (plus one lap).

Over the next lap, Tallent's main competitor Perez would slow to a crawl, then exit the race. A disappointment but she will have many great days to come. Meanwhile, up front, Tallent started making headlines ... in the men's race. Claire that is, not Jared. With less than six laps to go, she unlapped herself and took a 60-meter advantage over Velasquez. Not only did Tallent stay on the lead lap in the men's race till the end but it started looking like she would overhaul the male leaders. She overtook Gustafsson, the second-place male, with less than 3K to go. Velasquez, however, caught his second wind and sped up. He increased his advantage over Tallent from 3:42 after 38 laps to 4:12 at the finish. Had he not had his resurgence, what a storyline we would have had: Claire Tallent pulverized the men's 50K field.

The 2019 Santee race in these tough conditions demonstrated two things: (1) how good Claire Tallent is; and (2) what a great endurance event the 50K is. The many top athletes who faltered in this heat, despite their preparation and experience, provide proof positive that the 50K belongs on any program called "athletics."

A New Star Is Born

The Santee race served as the U.S. national 50K championships and is listed as a Qualifying Race Walk Competition in 2018-2019 for the Doha Worlds later this year. The top seven U.S. finishers on both the women's and men's sides receive prize money, $8.000 going to the winners, down to $1,000 for seventh place. The race also offers U.S. Team selection spots for the Pan Am Cup and the World Championships.

The race drew the cream of the crop of the U.S. 50K contingent. Yet, the women's U.S. Nationals podium this year was entirely new in composition. Six of the 13 U.S. women starters had ended up on the podium before, two of them on the top step. This field included all three U.S. Team members of the inaugural London 2017 World Championships race. The fact that the podium was graced by three newcomers shows the depth of the women's 50K in the United States.

Left: Tallent and Perez kept company for about 8K Centre: Robyn Stevens (42), Allen James(14) and Katie Burnett (30) a little after one hour of racing Right: Nick Christie (1) and David Velasquez (114) with the early lead

Robyn Stevens had dipped her toes in 50K waters two years prior when she was still very much a 20K walker. Back then, she clocked 5:16:46 for a sixth place finish. The one-time junior star, who took a decade off from competition, came back strong in 2015 by landing spots on the 2015 Pan Am Cup and 2016 and 2018 World Team Championships U.S. 20K teams. In Taicang on May 5th of last year, Robyn was 65th with a time of 1:38:06. Meanwhile, she had moved from the San Francisco Bay Area to Las Vegas to be near her new coach Andreas Gustafsson, whose personal best in the 50K is 3:50:47 (2012) and whose resume includes four World Championships 50K races (2007 through 2013) on behalf of his native Sweden. Stevens is now ready to join the top echelons of the 50K pantheon. After the first lap, she was ahead of defending champion Katie Burnett. Five laps later, Burnett had closed the gap to four seconds. But it would take another three laps for the U.S. record holder to join Stevens and former U.S. 50K Olympian Allen James. James and Stevens had kept each other company from the start.

Those who thought that 20K specialist Stevens would fizzle out early were wrong. By the next lap, it was Burnett who walked with James, with Stevens having accelerated away. And so it would remain. Stevens never relinquished the U.S. women's lead, which looked good enough at the time for third place overall behind Tallent and Perez. Around the 20K mark, Robyn's U.S. lead was nearing a minute, which grew to over five minutes by 30K. Shortly thereafter, Burnett was out of the race, soon to be followed by Perez, moving Stevens up to second overall. For a while, it looked like Stevens would meet the 4:30:00 Doha entry standard. But the heat cost her some precious minutes by slowing her pace down. Her finish time of 4:34:24 would have been lower by a couple of minutes if it had not been for a lap counting error that was not discovered right away after her initial finish. The fact that Stevens, after thinking she was done and standing still for about two minutes after completing 48.75K, still managed to get back on the circuit and complete an additional lap in just a little over six minutes, speaks volumes about her embrace of the distance. Undoubtedly, there is more to come.

A pity, though, that she and her coach could not celebrate dual national championships. Andreas fell in love with a U.S. woman, married and has built a new life and a young family in the United States. He is a bona fide U.S. citizen who has fallen victim to the IAAF's transfer of nationality rules and prohibitions. Unfortunately, those rules were not meant for cases like his. Santee race organizers even had two race numbers ready for him, a U.S. national championship one and a number for the international men's 50K race. Gustafsson was forced to use the latter number due to not having received his IAAF transfer approval. Otherwise, he too would have been crowned as the 2019 U.S. National 50K Champion.

Stevens was joined on the podium by Stephanie Casey, just a smidgeon shy of a 10K/hour pace (fell short by five seconds) and Lydia McGranahan, who started race walking at age 40 two years ago. Casey had been a U.S. Team member on the 2008 World Cup 20K Team but then switched her concentration to finishing her medical doctorate and raising four kids between the ages of 10 months and 9 years. Casey has returned to competition in grand style. Some four minutes after Casey's finish, 24-year old Molly Joseph missed a U.S. medal in her 50K debut.

Despite many competitors dropping out, one who did finish was Darlene Backlund, at 73 years of age. Wow! She has been a mainstay in the U.S. National Women's 50K Championships. Hats off to USATF for having held women's 50K championships races for much longer than any other IAAF member federation and to Darlene for having been such a big part thereof.

Finishers Claire Tallent, Robyn Stevens and Darlene Backlund who is still going strong at 73

Among the international women 50K-ers, Elianay Pereira of Brazil finished third overall with a PB. Last year's women's race winner Marciela Sanchez (Mexico) hung in there for seventh, a finish not replicated by her brother Eder, a 3:53:19 50K-er who fell back from contending for the win on his 24th lap. Three laps later, he was put a lap down, shortly before he left the race.

Another international of note was Rachel Seaman (Canada), who returned from a long absence due to a hamstring injury that kept her out of the Rio Olympics and the birth of her second child with hubby Tim Seaman. Rachel partook in the 20K invitational race. She looked like her old self but did not finish. Yet, it's early in the season and it's just great to see her compete again. Welcome back. A funny moment occurred when Rachel and Tim's oldest daughter, their 7-year old, race walked on the sidewalk as the 50K competitors passed by. With her parentage, she may have a heel and toe inside track for the future.

Men's Race Was A Spirited Affair

The men's 50K was exciting from the start. Five walkers were in position to grab the win. Local favorite Nick Christie and David Velasquez (Ecuador) established the early lead, ahead of a trio chasing them consisting of Gustafsson, Eder Sanchez and Javier Mena Jara (Ecuador). On lap 12, Christie surged ahead. Two laps later, Nick had built up a lead of 18 seconds. But his breakaway did not last. By the half-way mark, the roles were reversed when Velasquez led from Christie by 30 seconds. Gustafsson was 1:14 behind the leader, Sanchez 1:45 with Jara on his heels. One of these five was bound to win.

On the next lap, Gustafsson was closing in on Christie, whom he passed for second within a lap after that. Christie then had to worry about Jara and Sanchez, who were closing in on him. After 23 laps, Velasquez had a 1:03 advantage over Gustafsson, and 2:02 over Christie, now joined by Jara and Sanchez. But then, Sanchez first fell away from the chase, then out of the race. By lap 26, Jara had passed Christie for third.

Velasquez's lead, meanwhile, had evaporated by 35K, by which point Gustafsson had managed to join him. The pair clocked in at 2:48:26, a 4:04 advantage over Jara. But a 50K does not start till the 35K mark. And so it was in Santee. Velasquez had more left in the tank than the Swedish-American. Ten laps from the finish, the Ecuadorian had built up a 9-second lead. By then, Christie was no longer a factor for the win. By lap 31, the race leader was about to lap Christie. A lap later, the sympathetic Californian was in visible physical trouble and soon left the race. In the meantime, Velasquez passed through 40K in 3:13:35, 1:05 ahead of Gustafsson. The Nevada resident had visibly slowed, though. Two laps from the end, the gap was 4:05 which grew to 7:22 at the finish.

Christie's demise allowed Matthew Forgues to grab the U.S. title. The 26-year old posted his 4:11:43 PB 11 months ago at the Jerzy Hausleber Memorial 50K in Monterrey, Mexico. Two-and-a-half months later, Forgues posted a consistent 4:18:17 at the World Team Championships for a 46th place. Second in the U.S. Nationals one year ago, Forgues graduated to the top rung of the podium. He was joined in the award ceremony by Pablo Gomez, a professor of cognitive neuroscience at DePaul University in Chicago, and Michael Manozzi, a 50K regular who was happy to return to form after two injury-plagued seasons. Just missing out on a podium spot was 59-year old Ian Whatley, who had the pleasure of watching his two daughters race alongside him as they contested the shorter distance invitationals. One of his offspring stood on the podium as dad walked past the award stand.

Men's 50km winner David Velasquez, along with Ian Whatley (best hat award)

These national championships races demonstrated what three recent international 50K races (London, Taicang and Berlin) had already proven: women racing the 50K in joint fashion with the men makes the 50K that much more interesting. Kudos to Tracy Sundlun and his team for a great show and a terrific venue.

Wow, what a report! Thanks so much Paul.

ITALIAN 50KM CHAMPIONSHIPS, GIOIOSA MAREA, ITALY, SUNDAY 27 JANUARY

Sunday saw the Italian 50km championships contested at San Giorgio di Gioiosa Marea in Messina, with large entry fields but with a number of walkers intending to just complete 35km and then stop. With a 50km scheduled for the European Cup on May 19th in Alytus, Lithuania, some were perhaps not keen to go the full distance at this stage. The day's racing was dedicated to the memory of Italian racewalker and triple Olympian Anna Rita Sidoti, a resident of this city.

Thanks to the report published in marciadalmondo: http://www.marciadalmondo.com/eng/dettagli_news.aspx?id=3375.

In the men's 50km, the first 4 to reach the 35km mark all then retired — Massimo Stano (2:35:03), Federico Tontidonati (2:36:14), Andrea Grusti (2:37:39) and Marco De Luca (2:38:30). leaving Michelle Antonelli to continue on his own to claim the 50km title with a time of 3:55:09. The only other finishers were Leonardo Dei Tos (3:56:56) and Niccolo Coppini (4:08:28).

The women's event was dominated by Eleanora Georgi, walking with Matteo Giupponi and Gregorio Angelini for almost 30km before storming to the 35km mark with a time of 2:45:31. Her splits tell the story of her wonderful pacing effort: 47:50 (10km), 1:35:17 (20km), 2:22:30 (30km), 2:45:21 (35km). This omens very well for her inaugural 50km in Alytus in May. 5 other women also stopped at the 35km mark, leaving Nicole Colombi (4:27:38) and Roberta Caraccia (5:21:34) as the sole female finishers in the 50km. With her finish, Nicole set a new Italian record, beating the previous time of 4:29:56, set by Natalia Bruniko way back in 2002. With Georgi's 35km time, it is now only a matter of 'when' rather than 'if' before we see the first woman breaking the 4 Hour mark for 50km.

Nicola Maggio ponders the state of racewalking technique in Italy: http://www.marciadalmondo.com/eng/dettagli_news.aspx? id=3379.

Interestingly, for performances to count towards Doha, races must be on the list of IAAF sanctioned meets, as per document https://www.iaaf.org/download/downloadresultinfo?filename=d065e23b-f352-4939-8824-b3724fd1308f.pdf&urlSlug=iaaf-world-championships-doha-2019-qualifying. The 2019 meets on the list currently read as follows.

67th New Year Race Walking in Tokyo	Tokyo JPN	01-Jan	Men: 20km - Women: 10km
Portuguese Walking Championships (35-50km)	Porto de Mos POR	13-Jan	Men: 35km / 50km - Women: 35km / 50km
USATF Men&Women 50km Walking Champs	Santee, California USA	26-Jan	Men: 50km - Women: 50km
Australian 20km Walking	Adelaide AUS	10-Feb	Men: 20km - Women: 20km

1 st International Walking Championships 2019	Chennai IND	16/17-Feb	Men: 20km / 50km - Women: 20km
USATF National 20km Walking Championships	Tustin, California USA	16-Mar	Men: 20km - Women: 20km
Spanish 20km National Walk Championships	Oropesa del Mar ESP	17-Mar	Men: 20km - Women: 20km
Lugano Trophy - Memorial Mario Albisetti	Lugano SUI	17-Mar	Men: 20km - Women: 20km

Hungarian National Championships	Békéscsaba HUN	28-Apr	Men: 20km - Women: 20km
Polish National Championships 20km	Mielec POL	22-Jun	Men: 20km - Women: 20km

This Italian meet is not on the list. One assumes this is just a hiccup and that they had their paperwork done and submitted to the IAAF for sanctioning purposes.

OUT AND ABOUT

- Frank van Ravensberg has announced details for the 10th Sprint Triathlon in Race Walking. The carnival will be held on Saturday 25th May 2019 in Veenendaal, Nederlands, where competitors will walk on the new track. Distances will be 3000m, 1000m and 1 mile. You can contact Frank at f.vanravensberg@live.nl.
- Jemima Sumgong, the 2016 Olympic marathon champion, has had her doping ban increased to eight years after her claims that she was injected with EPO by an "imposter" at a Kenyan hospital during a doctor's strike were dismissed. The unprecedented sanction was made after the IAAF's independent disciplinary tribunal ruled there was "compelling evidence" Sumgong had also fabricated her medical records and lied about her whereabouts after a positive test for EPO in 2017, for which she later received a four-year ban. See https://www.theguardian.com/sport/2019/jan/25/olympic-marathon-champion-jemima-sumgong-doping-ban-doubled-kenya-.

Congratulations to VRWC / Collingwood Harriers / VMA walker Stuart Kollmorgen on receiving an OAM (Medal of the Order of Australia) in the latest Australia Day Honours lists published on January 26th. Stuart's award is for 'Services to the Community' and honours his many years of working as an advocate for the LGBTI community in Australia. Stuart is one of those people with his fingerprint in so many areas, all of them constructive. A board member of Bowls Victoria, an athlete, a radio presenter, a senior counsel with many years experience in workplace law, a lecturer in Law at Monash University, and with more letters after his name than you could poke a stick at, this is one of those awards that has been earned with blood, sweat and tears. And of course, we should not forget that he is also a superb masters walker, having competed at 5 World Masters Championships. Great congratulatory article at https://pridecentre.org.au/stuart-kollmorgen-deputy-board-chair-of-the-victorian-pride-centre-awarded-oam-for-service-to-the-lgbtiq-community-and-sporting-organisations/.

- Congratulations to 2018 IAAF World Team Championships competitor Rebecca Henderson who came 5th in the U18 10km Open Water Swim at the Australian Open Water Championships last Saturday. What can't she do!
- Well done to Rob Elliott for posting this video of the 1985 World Cup at the IOM. It features the men's 50km, women's 10km and men's 10km. See https://www.youtube.com/watch?v=sjJlkZHF94I.
